From Our Principal...

As 2013 draws to a close, I am reflecting on the many blessings of my life, including the opportunity to serve as the principal at Kenrose. I appreciate working with committed teachers and staff, children who bring smiles to our days and fulfillment to the work of helping them learn and grow, and supportive parents who share our high expectations. It is truly wonderful to be an educator in our Kenrose community!

As you know, 1st semester will conclude on Friday with a noon dismissal, and school for students will resume on Tuesday, January 7th. As you plan for second semester and beyond, please note that the WCS calendar is located online at <http://www.wcs.edu/calendars/calendar.htm>. The 2014-15 calendar recently approved by the Williamson County School board is also available at this link. If you are planning vacation time during second semester, please try to use the vacation times built into the school calendar. In order to be excused absences, vacation days that extend outside the school vacations must be approved in advance by the teacher and the principal based upon the child's attendance record and academic performance. This year academic focus time will begin March 3rd and extend through the end of the school year. During academic focus time no vacation days outside the school calendar will be approved as excused absences.

The children are looking forward to holiday parties this Friday, December 20, at 11 a.m. Following are some guidelines for room parents and others who will be attending to assist with the holiday parties.

- Room parents and others assisting with the parties are limited to adults. Due to space considerations and so that attention, activities, treats, etc. can be focused on the students in the class, please do not bring siblings.

Dates to Remember:

- 11/18- 12/18 GraceWorks Canned Food Drive
- 12/09- 12/20 Presents for Paws
- 12/20 General PTO Meeting, Kenrose Café, 10:00 am
- 12/20 Winter Party, 11:00 am 1/2 Day
- 12/23- 01/03 Winter Holiday
- 01/06 No School for Students Administrative Day
- 01/07- 01/09 Talent Show Auditions
- 01/17 Talent Show

Nutrition Nuggets Fun: (WCS CSH Newsletter)

Is your youngster on a sports team? Show support for her physical activity by helping at practice, ordering team T-shirts, or arranging healthy snacks for games and events. Since games are often on weekends or evenings, working parents may be able to drive carpools, keep score, or assist the coach.

For more healthy tips:
<http://www.wcs.edu/csh/nuggets/>

- Parking is always limited during our events. Visitors and volunteers please avoid parking in the area where the busses pull up; this area will be marked with cones.
- Please make sure all adults attending parties are aware of the following:
  - o Enter through the café doors
  - o Have photo ID (or WCS photo volunteer badge) out of wallet and ready to show/ have it copied
  - o Know the grade and name of the teacher you are planning to visit
  - o Wear a visitor sticker in a visible place during the entire time you are in the school
- Please plan your visit so that you will have exited the building by 11:50 when we will begin calling dismissal. Parents may sign out their own children (not other people's children) in the classroom, and parents may sign themselves out at the same time. Please exit the building using the front doors by the office.
- Remember that while visiting a WCS school during a non-public event such as holiday parties, adults are prohibited from taking pictures of any children other than their own. The only exception is a parent designated by the teacher as a class photographer who has signed a confidentiality agreement and will be responsible for taking pictures for the yearbook, etc. Parents are advised never to place pictures taken of students at Kenrose on social media.

I realize these guidelines are detailed and may seem lengthy. Please remember that they are designed to ensure the safety and security of your children. Thank you for your cooperation and for assisting with holiday parties for the children. Our goal is for the students to have a fun and safe time!

Once again, I want to thank our Kenrose parents and community for all you do to support teaching and learning at our school. On behalf of the Kenrose faculty, staff, and administration, I wish you a joyous holiday season that includes many opportunities to enjoy the company of family and friends. I wish you safe travels and a happy, healthy 2014!

What's New in Life Skills?

K - 2nd

From your School Counselors, Ms. Lipsett & Mrs. Bernstein!

Students have been discussing and participating in activities having to do with Bucket Filling. The concept of Bucket Filling is based off of the popular children's book, "Have You Filled a Bucket Today?" by Carol McCloud. The book explains that everyone has an "invisible bucket" that holds each person's emotions and confidence. People feel happy and good when their buckets are filled, but very sad when their buckets are empty. Everyone can do his or her part to make sure that they fill invisible buckets by using kind words, helping others, giving compliments, donating food and clothes to organizations, and showing friendship. When you fill another's bucket, your own bucket fills as well because you feel good when you help others feel good.

Each student takes on the responsibility to demonstrate caring acts to friends, family members, and people in their communities by making sure he or she is filling buckets, and not dipping buckets by saying or doing something mean to take away from others' good feelings. To learn the importance of bucket filling, students are reading the books and participating in many discussions and interactive activities through the Life Skills rotation. We invite families to use and practice bucket filling at home to help children understand the importance of kind words and actions.

Students in 3rd-5th grade have been learning about how to send internet messages in a safe way during Life Skills classes. The county provides an internet curriculum with student lessons and parent informational tips. The students learn that "netiquette" is informal rules of internet etiquette and brainstorm in groups polite ways to behave online. Some ways you can support them when they are on-line is to monitor their buddy lists and profiles that some websites and games use. If your children receive harassing messages, talk to them about it and contact authorities when necessary.

It is important to set up rules at home to limit the amount of time children are using the internet. Some suggested rules are...

1. No instant messaging during homework time.
2. No instant messaging late at night; keep devices in a central part of the house outside of bedrooms.
3. Establish a time limit.

When aiding your children in setting up profiles, make sure that it does not contain personal information like hobbies or interests. Make sure to not post pictures on the profile screen. Ensure the profile does not link to a personal website. Keep an open dialogue about your children's internet use.

Head Lice General Information

Dear Parents,

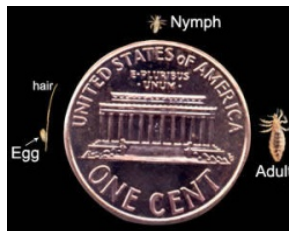

Due to the many cases of head lice that are seen in schools during this time of the school year, I would like to provide you with as much information as possible to support and help you better understand how to deal with the prevention and treatment of head lice for your children and your family. Additional information can be found on the Williamson County web site at <http://www.wcs.edu/studentsupportsvc/lice.htm>.

What are Head Lice?

Lice or Pediculosis are small, grayish white, wingless bugs, about the size of a sesame seed. They have six legs and can look darker on people with dark hair. Head Lice live on human blood by biting the scalp. Lice lay oval, hard, whitish nits (eggs), on the hair shaft, usually less than one half inch from the scalp. Often nits can be mistaken for dandruff. Nits are firmly attached to the hair shaft with a natural glue substance. Lice are often found behind the ears, near the back of the neck, or right at the crown of the head. Head Lice are rarely found on the body, eyelashes, or eyebrows. The main problem with Head Lice is severe itching. A telltale sign is a tickling feeling or something moving on the head. If the skin is broken from scratching, infection can occur.

What is the Life Cycle of a Louse?

The life cycle of a head louse is about a month. The female will lay eggs on the hair shaft at the rate of approximately 4 per day. These eggs hatch in 7 to 10 days. Within another 10 days, the newly hatched louse can begin the cycle all over again. With human blood to live on, during their 30-day life span, it is not unusual for female lice to lay close to 100 nits. Although we are unsure how long a louse can live without blood, it has been said that they can live for 2 to 5 days without being on a person. Nits can survive for up to ten days before they will hatch. Here is a picture to help you:

How do you catch Head Lice?

Lice are spread by head to head contact and are easily spread where people are crowded together. Head Lice cannot hop or jump, and they do not have wings. They are spread by close contact with infested articles such as hats, wigs, brushes, combs, hair accessories, pillows, backs of chairs, linens, car seats or head to head contact with people who have lice. Once Head Lice infestation starts it can spread rapidly and prompt treatment needs to happen. Although thought to be rare, lice can be spread via head phones, sporting helmets or foam rubber items.

How do you treat Head Lice?

You can check with your pediatrician or physician, but there are over the counter shampoos, lotions, gels and sprays to help you if you get Head Lice. There are also prescription strength shampoos and it is a good idea to call your physician to see what they suggest or you can call the Health Department. Once treated with the shampoo, you need to comb out all the nits with the special Lice comb and sometimes may need to use your fingers to pull them out. You also need to wash all your linens, pillows, blankets, clothes in HOT water and dry on high heat (120 degrees) for 30 minutes. Any item that cannot be washed, you can bag and seal it up for two weeks. Vacuum sofas, carpeting, furniture, and remember to vacuum your cars paying special attention to head rests and using the crevice tool to get into the cracks of seats. Make sure to throw away your vacuum bags. Treat all your brushes, combs, hair accessories by disinfecting in hot water for 20 minutes or discard them.

What are some preventative measures?

Other than the above washing, drying and treatment, you can teach your children to help in the following ways:

- Do not share brushes, combs, hair accessories, hats, scarves, etc
- Keep clothing items not used in their back packs when not using.
- Do not share helmets, head sets, other items that may be touching the head. Utilize lice spray disinfectant on all of these types of equipment if sharing and wipe clean.
- Check your children when they come home from school and also after they participate in after school activities, or sleep-overs.
- During increased cases of Head lice, you can avoid sleep- overs and hair salon parties to cut down on the risk of spreading head lice.
- There are preventative products such as Tea Tree shampoo, gels, etc that you can put on your child's hair to help repel lice.
- Have your child wear their hair up if long and out of their face.
- Minimize close head to head contact.

Please remember that head lice can be transmitted in many types of environments and from heads with very clean and combed hair. Head Lice are actually very common and about 12 million people get head lice every year. Diligence is required to rid your family of head lice and keeping informed is very important. Please let me know if I can help answer any of your questions.

Best regards,

Terri Gamble, Kenrose School Nurse

Bird's Eye View Guidelines:

Our Mission is to make the school newsletter as concise as possible while still providing parents all of the important information they need. We would like to avoid lengthy articles, and instead, include links to the article online if parents need/want more information. Thank You!

- 5 pm Monday is the deadline for submittals to kenrosetpto@yahoo.com.
- Submissions should be in Word format, or in the body of an email. Please send a separate file/email for each submission.
- All submissions must be approved by a board member or Dr. Webb, and copied to Dr. Webb at marilynw@wcs.edu, Christy Geuther, PTO President, at tmacqag@comcast.net, and Jacqueline Cartailier at kenrosetpto@yahoo.com.
